

Innovative Methods for Teaching Earth System Governance

This workshop is designed for scholars at all career stages with some experience teaching courses on environmental governance or a similar topic who wish to incorporate innovative methods in the classroom. Participants will share their knowledge of innovative methods that they have used or heard of and actively engage with several methods, such as experiential learning, negotiation simulations, and teaching case studies.

Schedule for Thursday October 12, 2017

9.00-9.30	Introduction (Michele Betsill and Annica Kronsell)
9.30-10	Ignite presentations by participants
10.15-11	Activity: Experimental Learning and Knowledge Action Session (Johannes Stripple, Roger Hildingson, Vasna Ramasar)
11-12	Ignite presentations by participants
12-13	Lunch
13-13.45	Activity: Active Learning (Ian Manners)
13.45-14.15	Ignite presentations by participants
14.15-15	Activity: Case Study (Stacia Ryder)
15-15.15	Fika
15.15-16	Activity: Negotiation Simulation (Tobias Nielsen, Michele Betsill)
16-17	Reflections and Closing (Michele Betsill and Annica Kronsell)

Location: Lund University Wrangel, Biskopsgatan 5, 223 62 Lund